Goals of the Conference

The Conference aims at elaborating on the issues relating to the operations of rail services affected by a low load factor in Poland with special attention paid to safety aspects of traffic on such routes.

It is expected that participants of the Conference will include leading experts from the field of rail automation from such countries as Poland, Czech Republic, Germany and Russian Federation.

Preliminary program of the Conference

Timeframe: 10.00–14.00

Opening of the Conference;

Deliberations on technical and exploitation issues relating to:

- using wireless networks in railway traffic management system devices (coded radio channels);
- using mobile phone networks in railway traffic management system devices;
- maximum reduction of human factor influence on railway traffic management system processes;
- securing safety on rail services affected by a low load factor;

Deliberations on legal issues relating to:

- normative legal framework specifying principles of operating rail services affected by a low load factor;
- developing an algorithm leading to required changes in legal provisions and rules concerning operations of services affected by a low load factor;
- role of all the stakeholders participating in the operations on routes affected by a low load factor (managers, operators, users, etc.);
- adoption of legal instruments regulating technological solutions treating services affected by a low load factor as a reserve for main services;
- legal aspects of compatibility of railway traffic management system devices on services affected by a low load factor.

Award Ceremony in the Rail Transportation Leader 2012 competition;

Jubilee of the 60th birth anniversary of Prof. Efim Rozenberg, PhD (Eng) and Prof. Zbigniew Łukasik, PhD (Eng), His Magnificence Rector of the Kazimierz Pulaski University of Technology and Humanities in Radom.
